

31.07.2014

inhope.org: Australia - new national network for reporting online child sexual abuse content

Australian efforts against the trade in online child sexual abuse material have been significantly strengthened with the finalisation of formal agreements earlier this week between the Australian Communications and Media Authority and the police forces of Queensland and Victoria.